

A WORD FROM FR. REINERSMAN...

Eighty five young people of St. Joseph Parish received the Sacrament of Confirmation from Bishop Roger Foys this past Friday. With guidance from their parents, examples of faith from their sponsors, excellent instruction from their religion teachers in the Parish School of Religion and 8th grade, and their personal preparation they have come into full initiation in the Catholic faith.

Having received all the Sacraments of Initiation (Baptism, Eucharist and Confirmation) these young men and women are ready to begin taking greater personal responsibility for the practice of the faith. Just as they did not come to this point by themselves, they will not continue on the journey of faith alone. They remain dependent on the guidance of their parents. They also need the encouragement of our parish community by our prayers, witness and providing opportunities for them to grow in their knowledge, love and service of our Lord. This shows how the Holy Spirit works through the community of the Church, the Body of Christ.

If you are even slightly acquainted with any of the newly Confirmed of our parish, I urge you to express a word of congratulations and encouragement to him/her. It would be a strong signal of the importance of community in living the faith and that we do not live the faith anonymously.

Congratulations to the young men and women who were Confirmed last Friday. Thank you to their parents, sponsors and teachers. Let all of us open ourselves to the gifts of the Holy Spirit so as to build the kind of community that strengthens the faith in each of us and among all of us.

Fr. Gerry Reinersman
